MEET THE FOUNDER: SIR CHEF BRUNO SERATO

Restaurateur, chef, philanthropist, and CNN Hero Sir Bruno Serato, owns the acclaimed Anaheim White House Restaurant and has earned international publicity and recognition for his humanitarian work. Serato has also been recognized by Pope Francis for his campaign to end world hunger, “The Power of Pasta” and recently addressed the United Nations with his message on the importance of corporate social responsibility—all in the name of one loving woman—Mamma Caterina!
WHAT WE DO
“SERVING UP MORE THAN A MEAL”

The Feeding the Kids in America program serves 3,580 warm, nutritionally balanced meals to underprivileged children five nights a week. We serve meals at 62 locations throughout Orange County and Los Angeles, and are committed not only to filling the stomachs of these children, but their hearts and minds as well. Inspired by a partnership with Barilla Corp., and their “Share the Table” movement, our program is designed to instill family values, camaraderie, responsibility, and confidence into these children’s daily lives. Chef Bruno has launched a world-wide campaign to end childhood hunger with his message, “The Power of Pasta! A sustainable, nutritious, and affordable source of energy for the world’s hungry children.”

WHAT WE DO
“ENDING CHILDHOOD HOMELESSNESS”

Motels often house an uneasy confluence of drug addicts, registered sex offenders, and criminals. Due to the lack of affordable housing and stymied by high rents—these motels have also become housing for homeless families, many of which have full-time jobs and provide for at least 2-3 children. Being able to afford and save the first and last months rent, as well as a security deposit on a family-friendly apartment is impossible for these families stuck in the nightly motel cycle. The Welcome Home program provides families with the deposit and first month’s rent needed to escape motel life. In addition to covering move-in costs, Caterina’s Club collects donated furniture, appliances, and other home goods to jump start these families new lives.

WHAT WE DO
“EDUCATING AT-RISK YOUTH TO BREAK THE POVERTY CYCLE”

Chef Bruno’s Hospitality Academy, a partnership with Anaheim Union’s P21 Mentorship program, provides at-risk teenagers with job skill training not taught in the traditional school day. Over the course of twelve weeks, our expert staff train students on cuisine, nutrition, restaurant service, marketing, administration, and financial literacy. Executives from major hotels, hospitals, culinary schools, and other businesses have been secured as guest speakers to provide students with insight to opportunities that lie ahead as they prepare to exit high school and enter the workforce. More than skill learning and resume building, this program serves as an innovative after school program that keeps teens off the street and engaged in activities that will help shape and brighten their future. Finally, we believe that providing young adults necessary skills to secure employment will be instrumental in preventing the cycle of homelessness.

“When I first began the academy I was very shy and reserved, but over time my attitude changed dramatically. Thanks to the program, my confidence has increased only to benefit my future. The program also lead me to other opportunities like obtaining a paid internship and college scholarship. Most importantly, Caterina’s Club has given me the opportunity to help other students in my community.”
